

Dear experts on integration, accessibility of public services, standardization, and anyone who wants immigrants to exercise their rights

Hi!

After more than two years of work in the easyRights project, a Horizon2020 innovation action, we are excited to introduce to you the Mediation Grammar, an innovative model for assessing and guiding public services and administrations to design and deliver services that fulfill the rights of regular immigrants including refugees and asylum seekers.

What is the Mediation Grammar?

We define the Mediation Grammar as a collection of minimum requirements for public services to guarantee the rights of any immigrant who enters the European Union. It aims to provide a common basis for the harmonization of public services throughout Europe.

How can you contribute?

The Mediation Grammar is now under a formal procedure to become recognized by the CEN (European Committee for Standardization). To endorse it as a European standardization document, support from key institutions and individuals is imperative. For this reason, we are organizing a series of meetings with relevant stakeholders to prepare such a document (the CWA - CEN Workshop Agreement).

Your contribution is essential in the process of converting the Mediation Grammar into a tool for inclusion and transforming the way immigrants can exercise their rights.

Want to participate?

If you want to be part of this forward-looking process, we kindly invite you to follow these steps in order to be recognized as an official participant in our CEN workshop:

1 Register your participation

Fill out the registration form following this link. You can register on behalf of your organization or as an independent. Send the completed registration form directly to the workshop secretary, Mario Gallo mario.gallo@uni.com

2 Contribute to the CEN Workshop Agreement

Read the draft of the CWA \(CEN Workshop Agreement\). Collect your comments on this form and send it back to the workshop secretary, Mario Gallo mario.gallo@uni.com

3 Participate in the plenary meetings

Attend one (or two) of our plenary meetings of the CEN Workshop (click here to join). The next meeting is on 21st October (15.30-17.00), and the following meetings will be announced in our website.

Kind regards,

The Mediation Grammar team
